

Tax cigarettes before cigarettes hook them.

If increasing the cigarette tax saved just one child, it would be worth it. But the fact is, cigarette taxes are a proven, effective way to reduce youth smoking. More than 6,500 South Carolina kids get hooked on cigarettes each year, and one in three will die prematurely as a result. Raising the price of cigarettes would prevent thousands of South Carolina kids from smoking and raise millions for health and prevention programs they need.
