<sup>1</sup> Average calculated for tax rates effective as of April 1, 2017. Averages do not include Puerto Rico or other US territories.

Since the beginning of 2000, 48 states and the District of Columbia have passed 135 state cigarette tax increases. One state (NY) has a cigarette tax rate higher than $4.00 per pack; eight states, Puerto Rico and Guam have cigarette tax rates of $3.00 or more; 17 states, DC, Guam, and Puerto Rico have cigarette tax rates of $2.00 per pack or more; and 35 states, DC, Guam, the Northern Marianas and Puerto Rico have tax rates of $1.00 per pack or more. The federal cigarette tax rate is $1.01 per pack.

Three of the tax increases implemented in 2002 (AZ, OR, WA), three tax increases in 2005 (CO, MT, OK), AZ's tax increases in 2006, SD's tax increase in 2007, and CA's tax increase in 2017 were passed by state voters. In many cases, the tax increases were proposed and supported by the state's governors, with strong bipartisan support.

Not reflected above are tax increases in U.S. territories or local governments – e.g., in 2002, NYC raised its cigarette tax by $1.42 to $1.50 per pack (bringing the combined state and local cigarette tax to $5.85 per pack); Cook County, IL, which includes Chicago, increased its cigarette tax from 18 cents to $1.00 per pack in 2004, by an additional $1.00 in 2006, and again by another $1.00 in 2013, bringing its current tax rate to $3.00 per pack; in 2005, Chicago raised its own cigarette tax from 16 to 48 cents per pack, and then by an additional 20 cents in 2006, and an additional 50 cents in 2014, bringing its tax rate to $1.18 cents per pack – with the total state-local tax rate in Chicago $6.16 per pack; and Juneau, AK, increased its tax rate by $2.00 per pack to $3.00 per pack on April 1, 2015 – bringing the total state-local rate to $5.00 per pack.
